

Cameron Newton

Cameron Newton is the founding member and Managing General Partner of Relevance Ventures, a Nashville based health and wellness focused venture capital firm with over $120MM in assets under management. Before founding Relevance Ventures, Cameron ran derivatives trading for Unum Group from 2009-2011, hedging interest rate risk on the company's $40 billion investment portfolio. Prior to Unum, Mr. Newton was Vice President and head of high-yield basic industries sales and trading research at Wachovia Securities from 2005-2009.

He began his career as a distressed debt analyst for Banc of America Securities in 2000 where he remained in various capacities until 2005. While at Banc of America Securities he was a member of a highly regarded basic industries research team that was ranked #1 by Institutional Investor magazine, a distinction that would follow the team across firms.

Newton is a proud graduate of Stanford University where he received his degree in Economics and was a member of the baseball team. He currently serves on the Boards of portfolio companies The Good Patch, CivicEye, DietID, HamsaPay, PetScreening, Prepaid2Cash and Vacayou. Newton is widely considered an leading authority on wellness investing and has appeared in such media outlets as The Wall Street Journal, Forbes, Fortune, Business Insider and TechCrunch to name a few.