

Sherry Bowman-Douglas is currently serving her third year as a member of the Industrial Board of Coffee County. She lives in the City of Manchester and has been a resident of Tennessee for over 20 years. She celebrates 29 years of marriage to her husband Dana Douglas and has two grown married children as well as two finishing high school. Her oldest returned with his master's in education and teaches at Coffee County Central High School while head coaching the baseball program. She has a granddaughter arriving in August.

Sherry brings more than twenty-eight years of experience to Coffee County in business marketing, training, and development. She is the owner of Indelible Mark; a woman owned business focused on equipping and empowering leaders for success through leadership coaching and team training. Developing and empowering our industry leaders promotes success within our companies and opens doors of opportunity within our community and beyond. Indelible Mark strives to support the continued growth of our region by collaborating with schools and organizations to develop a job-ready workforce. She is a Certified RFS (Ready for Success) Coach. This unique training equips individuals with tools for success in the workplace. A qualified workforce is vital to propel a community forward and she is committed to this endeavor wholeheartedly. She is enthusiastic about partnering in projects that infiltrate growth and prosperity in hard working communities.

Previously, Sherry spent almost 6 years as the Director of Training and Development and Regional Manager of Marketing for Metro Services. She built the training division from ground zero based on client need for qualified leadership and better training for associates within the client community. She was instrumental in creating a community identity for Metro Services through local outreach, board involvement in several organizations as well as building marketing collateral and social media presence.

Prior to joining Metro Services, she founded IMPACT Planning and launched Trinity Administrative Group. Before embarking on those two business ventures, she was a leadership coach to entrepreneur organizations promoting business growth and ownership principles in addition to operating as the Business Development Manager with Action COACH Chattanooga. In addition, she is the founder of Beachfront Ministries, an organization training women's empowerment tools and the Purpose & Strategy Development Coach for the Kingdom Culture Network of Middle Tennessee.

Mrs. Douglas has a diverse background working with The National Aeronautics Space Administration (NASA) in the following program areas: Systems Engineering, Project Management/Advanced Project Management and the Senior Executive Service Candidate Development Program headquartered in Washington, DC.
